5 · Change control and acceptance

A change to scope, deliverables, assumptions, timeline, resources, or fees must be described in a written change request and approved by authorised representatives. Deliverables will be reviewed against the acceptance criteria in the Statement of Work. If the Client does not identify a material non-conformity within the agreed review period, the deliverable may be treated as accepted, subject to mandatory legal rights.

6 · Intellectual property and confidentiality

Each Party retains its pre-existing intellectual property. Unless the Statement of Work states otherwise, LEA retains its pre-existing methods, templates, tools, know-how, software, and reusable components. On payment of the applicable fees, the Client receives the licence or ownership expressly described in the Statement of Work for the final deliverables.

Each Party will protect the other Party's confidential information, use it only for the Agreement, restrict access to people who need it, and return or destroy it on request subject to lawful retention. Confidentiality does not apply to information that is public without breach, lawfully known, independently developed, lawfully received without restriction, or required to be disclosed by law.

The Parties will document their roles for personal data, agree processing instructions where required, apply appropriate security, and notify one another promptly of suspected data incidents.

7 · Warranties, liability, and insurance

Each Party warrants that it has authority to enter into the Agreement. LEA warrants that the services will be performed with reasonable skill and care. The Parties should state the agreed liability cap, excluded or uncapped liabilities, indemnities, and insurance requirements below.

Either Party may terminate immediately where continued performance would be unlawful or create a serious security, safeguarding, or reputational risk.

The Parties are independent contractors. Amendments must be in writing and approved by authorised representatives. The Agreement and its signed Statements of Work form the entire agreement for the services described.
